Local Agencies Gather in Support of Mental Health

Kingston – It is estimated that one in five Canadians, close to six million in total, will develop a mental illness at some time in their lives. On Wednesday, May 6, 2009, over 40 local agencies will gather for the 4th Annual Frontenac Community Services Fair in support of those who struggle with mental health issues.

The public is invited to meet all the agencies working together to improve mental health and human services in our community. The Fair will provide networking and information-sharing opportunities for service providers, consumers as well as members of the public. The fair is sponsored by the Frontenac, Lennox & Addington Addictions and Mental Health Coalition and the Human Services and Justice Coordination Network.
